Aims and objectives

Benefit assessment in the field of medical devices is of major importance in the national healthcare systems. This meeting focuses on the current developments and challenges in three major EU countries, while also examining trends and tendencies across Europe.

After having attended this meeting you will be aware of the current assessment methods in France, the UK and Germany and have a sound understanding of the upcoming trends to facilitate the market access of innovative medical devices.

Who should attend?

This meeting addresses the needs of managing directors and co-workers in the medical device industry who are involved in market access and healthcare management.

Especially those who are responsible for the international business will benefit from this meeting.

Limited number of attendees

This conference is restricted to 20 participants. This limitation, a feature of all FORUM events, will give participants the opportunity for a thorough discussion of the complex issues to be covered by the programme.
